Good Progress at Sugar Factory

Crowded out of last issue.

Good progress is being made in the program of change and improvement at the Sugar Factory Plant, and according to Supt. Wing the crew are on the down hill part of the program. The inside is beginning to take form again after a thorough job of wrecking in order to install larger and in cases more up-to-date equipment.

Most of the machinery for the Steffens plant is on the ground now, and the crew is busy overhauling it and getting it together ready to move into the new building, in which work will start the beginning of the week, and rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

The Pulp silos are being enlarged, and the north end is being built back close to the tracks so that cars of pulp can be loaded with the steam crane, and save the hand shovelling which has been necessary heretofore. According to officials the loading charges will be reduced materially in this way, and it is hoped that it will mean an increase in the sale of pulp to farmers who are too far away to do the hauling with team or truck. The silos will be run together, or at best just a thin partition between them and the capacity will be materially increased. A good sized fresco crew is busy at this work now.

There are in the neighbourhood of 85 or 90 men at work together around and in the plant, and numerous changes and alterations are being made, so that when work starts this coming campaign, it will look like an almost new plant entirely.

Following the slaying of the Premier of Japan by military cadets, the Army has demanded that a non-partisan cabinet be formed to carry on the government of the country. The present party had arrangements all made to appoint a new premier and carry on.

THE TOWEL

The germs of disease must gain entrance into our bodies before they can cause harm. If we are to protect ourselves against disease germs, we must take precautions to keep these our enemies, from penetrating beyond the outside of our bodies, where they are harmless. It is our hands which frequently give germs their opportunity to gain entrance into our bodies. In the ordinary course of our daily lives, our hands come in to contact with many objects; we touch and handle many things which may have been soiled by the secretions of other persons. In shaking hands, substances which may be on the hand of one individual are transferred to the hand of another.

It is obvious that we are very likely to have on the surface of our hands the germs of disease. As long as the germs remain there, they can do us no harm, but once they pass our lips, they are given their opportunity to cause trouble.

If you will watch a number of people you will see that most of them frequently put their hands to their faces. They touch their lips or their nostrils; some even put their fingers in their mouths. Food which is touched when it is being prepared or is eating, carries with it into the mouth whatever was deposited on it by the hands.

As many of the cases are and have not of such illness, we advise that as

News Notes

Shirley King and Gene Pearson were Lethbridge visitors on Tuesday of this week.

The Cergeleum Rug at the Mercantile last week went to Miss Leora Peterson. The lucky number was 4,215.

254 Sons of Freedom were arrested Monday evening, the total to 595 since the arrests started for this offence. These in Nelson jail who went on a hunger strike have decided to eat again and are taking their meals.

F. T. Holt and family motored to Hartley on Sunday to visit with relatives there and returned that evening bringing with them the two children of Mr and Mrs. A. W. Jones for a visit here.

Captain Dan E. Campbell, was here Thursday night, at the High School where he delivered a splendid lecture on the "Wonders of the Great Pyramid" to a crowded and intensely interested house. While the crowd assembled he spoke of the history of ancient Israel and the promises made to the Fathers regarding their seed, and gave a number of useful keys in biblical chronology.

About 9 p.m. the lecture started, and the explanation of the pyramid and the builders had a special idea part of the talk, and by geometrical measurements it was proven without any question that the length of the years, were understood as well if not better than now and that this knowledge was written into the mass of stone. The pyramid is also set square with the north or pole star, another item which proves that the builders had a special idea in mind. The measurements all figure out to the minutest correctness, and wherever there is a change in the plan some definite idea is contained and some story told.

In the pyramid itself, the shafts, opening, stairs and everything connected with it are built to precision showing that the structure was intended to tell a story, and to tell it graphically. In all displacements, and other changes, the figure 286.102 is maintained, and most of the events in world's history can be measured and correlated with this distance, shown in most places in the pyramid in inches; sometimes in length, sometimes in height, and sometimes in displacement from the square.

In tracing the past history of the world as we have it written all major events were foretold in the pyramid, and the speaker was sure that the dates in the future would be just as exact and just as correct. Speaking of the present conditions of the world he attributed to our disobedience to law, and said that a National Day of Prayer and repentance would help us to get back and to again enjoy prosperity and happiness. He advocated a change in the monetary system and the introduction of money made of silver, so that the gold standard could be kept in balance. The crowd loudly applauded and asked for another lecture soon from the speaker.

High School Track and Field Meet

Wednesday afternoon the Track meet program started, but was unable to finish due to rain. Some good races were witnessed and many records were broken with the exception of the sprints which were much slower, due to heavy track. Gray Kirkham, Gerald Snow, Bruce Galbraith and Frank Weaver are fighting for individual honors, and after they are finished with the meet we shall be able to tell definitely who won.

Mildred Galbraith seems to be the star in the girls events in the sprinting and jumping.

Howard Melchin and Billy Peipgrass are the heavy winners in Junior events and some mighty good records were made in Junior events yesterday.

OUR GREATEST INVESTMENT

The greatest and most valuable investment of any community of fathers and of mothers is not the fine cars, nor yet the big bank accounts; none of these, but the boys and girls that will be the men and women of tomorrow. These are the riches that will endure, and these fine boys and girls and the kind of a character that we give them, will be the judgment that will be passed on us in fifty years from now when our successes and failures financially and otherwise are forgotten along with our business successes.

And assuming that this is so, what is the best course to pursue to train up the youth in the way they should go. To attempt to answer this question, and to lay down a set of rules for anyone to follow, would be folly. But experience of others and observation, may offer a few ideas to work on.

What can we do to encourage our boys and girls to live clean, moral and upright lives? If this can be accomplished the responsibility of parenthood will have been greatly reduced. In view of the present conditions of the world it is a big problem indeed to furnish the youth with a background that will give the backbone to resist temptation and stay away from it.

Not long ago a man was heard to say that he never refused his boys and girls anything that would encourage them in athletics. Because he felt it was cheaper to buy these things and have his children enjoying good, clean, sport, than to have them in the undesirable congregating places of too many of the boys, and at times girls. This is a very sane view of the thing. Many of our boys and girls get wayward and careless because they have nothing better to do. If money spent for equipment in lines they enjoy will keep their mind and body busy and active then we are making a real investment. Nothing was ever truer than the saying "Idleness is the devil's workshop." A share of responsibility in the work around the home never hurt any boy or girl, and usually trains them to be regular and orderly in their habits, and this is a great boon to them.

We know there are many who feel that the boys and girls in High School should never do anything but go to school. They claim it takes all their time on their lesson preparation. Maybe all the time could be used on lessons, but the question is, is it used there?

When the Track Meet was held on Wednesday it was a good demonstration of the influence that athletics have on the character of the boys and girls. Ability in these lines only comes as a result of constant and persistent effort, and it takes determination and backbone to carry on. It is a test of one's physical condition, and the sort of life one leads can pretty nearly be measured by the record and showing they make on the track.

So, it is worth while to encourage these things. It will not be a cure-all. It may not appeal to so very many. But it is bound to have an influence for good. Along with this, making comrades and pals of the boys and girls, winning their confidence, respecting their judgment and showing them courtesy, will have a tendency to make them want to carry on so that everyone will be proud of them. The boys should be made to feel that they are part of the organization of the home or farm, and the girls should feel that the home is their responsibility as much as it is their mother's. These things are important and should be considered.

After all, what have we in this old world if we do not have a posterity that will honor and revere our names and rise up and call us blessed. Let us pay more attention to the boy and girl, and not centre all our efforts on the acquiring of the wealth of the world which crinkles and rusts in our grasp.

PROVES LONDON DOCTOR IS WRONG

Someone Estimates Body's Material Worth More than Dollar

A London doctor says our bodies are worth less than $1 each for the materials they contain. We could fill a 10 gallon tank with the water in our bodies, make seven bars of soap with the fat, rid 1 dog of fleas with the sulphur, make a medium sized nail with the iron, make 2,300 match heads with the phosphorus, make 9,000 lead pencils with the carbon, provided we could extract it. We could produce a dose of salts with the magnesium we contain, and could whitewash a chicken-coop with our own lime — again provided we could extract it.

CROP REPORT

Crowded out of last issue.
(Issued by the Bank of Montreal)

GENERAL — Agricultural operations in every Province of the Dominion have been delayed by a cold, wet spring and in consequence the planting and seedling of the principal crops will probably not be completed until from ten days to three weeks later than was the case last year, when field work was ahead of the average. In the Prairie Provinces the land prepared for seeding at the opening of the season is estimated at 20,500,000 acres, which compares with 19,000,000 acres last year. Moisture conditions are better than for the past three years, and the seed bed is in good condition for germination in all areas. Rain and snow which delayed field work for about ten days, has made seeding somewhat later than usual, but wheat seeding is now general, being 30 p.c. completed in Alberta, 50 p.c. in Saskatchewan and 75 p.c. in Manitoba. Indications point to a decrease wheat acreage and an increase in the acreage of coarse grains seeding of which has hardly commenced. In Quebec Province very little spring ploughing has been done, but recent rains and milder weather have been beneficial. Work on the land is just commencing in eastern Ontario and in the remainder of the Province seeding is general and the land working up in a very friable condition. In the Maritime Provinces little or no work has yet been done on the land, and seeding will be later than usual. In British Columbia, where there is an unusual amount of moisture in the ground, ploughing and seeding are well under way, with the season three weeks later than usual. Details follow:—

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Alberta. Northeastern Area. Wheat seeding is about 15 p.c. completed. The seed bed is in excellent condition with ample moisture. Southeastern Area. Soil conditions for seeding are more satisfactory than for some years. About 40 p.c. of the wheat seeding is completed. Western Area. Wheat seeding is now being resumed and 25 p.c. is estimated to have been completed. Sugar beet seeding is about 10 p.c. completed. Saskatchewan. Northern Area. Seeding of wheat which commenced about April 18th, was delayed by wet weather and is now 25 p.c. completed. No coarse grains have been sown. Moisture is ample and the acreage of all crops is estimated at about the same as in 1931. Southern Area. Wheat seeding which commenced April 15th, was delayed ten days by wet weather but operations are now general. Of the wheat crop 40 p.c. is seeded, with sufficient moisture to ensure germination and check soil drifting. Manitoba. Wheat seeding is expected to be completed about May 10th. Seeding of coarse grains has been commenced. Present moisture conditions are good in all districts. Much seeding is being done on well prepared land and indications are for some increase in both wheat and coarse grains acreage.

SPREAD THINGS OUT

Twenty-five years ago, usually the "Twenty-fourth" was set aside as the day for getting in the garden. The children were home from school then and might as well be out of mischief cutting up potatoes or planting peas. In many parts of the country, this was a good average time as it was warm enough to risk beans, corn and melons and yet not so late but what the early things like peas, carrots and lettuce would still have a chance. Everything went in one afternoon in many cases, and all was ready for the table at about the same time. It was sort of a feast or a famine of fresh vegetables. But that is all changed today. Doctors have finally convinced the public of the vital necessity of green things in the diet at all times and experienced gardeners have demonstrated that it is quite possible to produce these green things for at least six months of the year. The whole secret is to make seasonal plantings of the same vegetables, starting just as soon as the ground is fit to work, with the peas, spinach, radish cross and lettuce, continuing with these about three times at intervals of ten days and gradually adding carrots, beets, beans, head lettuce, cabbage, Chinese cabbage, Chinese cabbage tomatoes, egg plants, lima beans, all types of corn with something going in right up to July. Consider corn for example. There are some very early types, like Sunshine, Early Market, Bantam, which allow production even in the north. Along with these there are late maturing sorts which prolong the season at the other end, so that with different varieties and planting at three different times instead of once it is quite possible to spread the harvesting period over months. Even frost need not interfere if celery, green tomatoes on the vines, Brussels's Sprouts, Rhubarb roots, carrots and beets in sand, and other things are properly stored in the fall.

BEANS

The bean is another vegetable which should be spread more over the season. One can put in the first few rows after all danger of frost is over and continue planting at weekly intervals until the first of July. There are several types. There are the dwarf and the pole sorts and among the ordinary varieties the yellow and the green. In recent years, people are turning more to the green bean which they consider of higher quality than the other. One can also plant Limas which should not go in until the weather really warms up and there is also the broad bean which goes in fairly early. This broad bean makes a delicious vegetable, the pod being shelled like peas. The only thing to guard against with it are the aphids which attack the plants at flowering time. Spraying with nicotine sulphate (or Black Leaf 40 a few times will ward off this pest.

WINDOW BOXES

It is now time to think of the window boxes and hanging pots with which to adorn verandahs and house fronts this summer. There are two or three essentials here. The box or pot must be strong and firmly attached because it is going to be heavy. Then too, there must be very rich soil, with plenty of fertilizer, as this sort of gardening is very intensive. Of equal importance is moisture, and this must be provided daily, and some times twice a day, as the evaporation for all sides of the box or pot are exposed to the air, is exceedingly rapid. The window-box should be as long as the window and should be supported and arranged so that the top of it is almost flush with the window sill. Otherwise, the foliage of the plants will soon fill up most of the window. There must be holes in the bottom of the box and pot to provide drainage, and also a layer of gravel, cinders, broken crockery or similar material for the same purpose. If one can secure a supply of well-rotted manure, put this in next, and finish with a top layer of rich soil. If there is no manure, use a fairly heavy application of good garden fertilizer and repeat every month. The box, which should be at least seven inches deep and from eight to ten inches wide at the top, should be filled to within half an inch of the top. Along the front put in trailing nasturtiums, German Ivy, Lobelia, geraniums, and similar plants with petunias, ageratums, begonias, ferns, anemones and any other plants especially recommended for this purpose farther back. Shelter from the sun for a day or two until the plants get established.

In the perennial flower bed, there will also be gaps where winter-killing has occurred. These may be filled in with quick growing annuals.

USE YOUR LOCAL PAPER

Speaking at a dinner tendered by a large group of Kingston, Ontario, men, H. E. Stephenson, of the McKinn Agency, told his audience some simple but important truths regarding the building of business. In an informative address, he stated that the best way to sell a product was to tell the truth about it, because the public read newspaper advertising as a guide to the daily purchasing. Then he went on to give some advice to these Kingston business men, which, he said, is applicable to the business men of any community. He said:

"If you have a local newspaper use it, even if you are a local man. It is the corner of the county and can only get value for a part of the circulation. Tell your story from time to time and you will profit by it."

"The newspaper is an important factor in knitting together a community, and to the extent that you can strengthen it you will be making the paper a stronger medium for your own and the manufacturers' advertising."

"Too many merchants endeavor to sidestep using a newspaper advertising man or publisher for fear that they expect them to rough up for some advertising; and too many publishers keep away from the merchants because they feel that that is the merchant's attitude. This is absolutely wrong, as the interests of the two are so bound up with the growth or prosperity of the district that they should work together at all times.—The Picton (N.S.) A. Beebe."
